AFFIDAVIT OF ROBERT H. BRAVER

I, Robert H. Braver, having first been duly sworn under oath, do hereby state:

1. I am the Plaintiff in the above-captioned case. I am over eighteen years of age and competent to testify. I have personal knowledge of the facts stated herein.
2. I provide electronic mail hosting, among other related Internet services, to a variety of clients engaged in interstate commerce and/or communications. Such clients include law firms including the (Michael E.) Tigar Law Firm, the slip reporter service TCPALaw.com, well-known local radio personalities, an electric co-op, a municipal hospital, as well as a variety of other businesses, organizations, and individuals.
3. My server facilities are located in Norman, Oklahoma. I reside and maintain my offices in Norman, Oklahoma.
4. The problem of spam and the required measures to provide at least some remediation is the single largest consumer of my time related to the maintenance, management, and marketing of my business. It is also the single largest consumer of mail server resources. Issues related to spam constitute a large proportion of the contacts from my clients. The steps required to employ spam filtering complicate other issues that can and do arise.
5. Based on my experience in and communications with others in the industry as well as numerous studies, news articles, and common knowledge, it is my opinion that the problems related to spam that I deal with are typical of other electronic mail service providers, large and small.
6. Spam identified as being sent by Robert Alan Soloway/Newport Internet Marketing Corporation came to my attention due to customer complaints and Mr. Soloway's propensity to target his emails at the contact email addresses associated with any given domain name's registration record and other common "role accounts" at those domains, such as "webmaster," "info," and "postmaster," which often come directly to me.
7. From August 14, 2003 through the early morning hours of March 7, 2005, I have identified no fewer than 556 separate Soloway/NIM fraudulent spams sent on 206 separate dates, as summarized on the spreadsheet attached as Exhibit "B". The actual number of Soloway/NIM spams received is higher than this.

8. The vast majority of the Soloway/NIM spam advertises his own "broadcast email" services. Relatively few of the spams attributable to Soloway are advertisements sent on behalf of his clients which I have been able to identify from the characteristics unique to the "spamware" software he uses, called "Dark Mailer", and verify by contacting the advertisers who have confirmed that they did indeed hire Soloway/Newport Internet Marketing.
9. All of the Soloway/NIM spams were sent with clearly falsified headers. In many instances, the headers were forged in such a way as to indicate that the message originated from my own email server. Such fraudulent methods make it more difficult to filter these spams.
10. All of the Soloway/NIM spams came in to my server facilities through connections from IP addresses all over the world. A great many appear to be cable modem or DSL circuits. It is my professional opinion, as well as that of other professionals whose writings about Mr. Soloway's activities I have read, that these connections are from virus-infected PCs that are being used as unauthorized spam relays. To the best of my knowledge, none of the IP addresses that the Soloway/NIM spam connections come in from are registered or otherwise belong to Soloway/NIM.
11. By relaying his spam from relays all over the world instead of from a few fixed locations as would be expected from a legitimate email sender, I must employ complicated and resource-intensive spam scoring and filtering with respect to the Soloway/NIM spams as opposed to simply blocking transmissions from the offending IP addresses.
12. All of the Soloway/NIM spams were sent with clearly falsified or randomized names in the From: field.
13. Almost all of the Soloway/NIM spams include deceptive subject lines in that they include "Re:" at the beginning, implying that the message is in reply to a message sent by the recipient; include random characters, codes or numbers, a common technique to attempt to circumvent spam filters; and/or deceptive text not reasonably related to the true subject matter of the message.
14. I have carefully reviewed my records, as summarized on the aforementioned attached spreadsheet, and have identified no fewer than 206 separate dates between August 14, 2003 and March 7, 2005 in which Soloway/NIM spams were sent to my servers with forged and/or falsified headers.
15. I have further identified no fewer than 197 separate dates between November 1, 2003 and March 7, 2005 in which Soloway/NIM spams were sent to my servers with false From lines, deceptive subject lines, and/or a second message with forged and/or falsified headers received on the same date as a message included in the previous paragraph's tabulation. None of the Soloway/NIM spams received between November 1 and December 31, 2003 included the required "ADV:" as the first four characters of the subject line.

16. I have personally communicated with several Internet domain owners who have claimed their domain names were used without authorization in the Soloway/NIM spams. My own domain names have been used without my authorization as part of the return address in some Soloway/NIM spams. Some of the Soloway/NIM spams purport to be from the domain names of clients that I host.
17. The Soloway/NIM spams received after the effective date of the CAN-SPAM Act purported to offer free services to specific types of non-profit agencies and claimed to therefore be non-commercial messages exempt from the provisions of the CAN-SPAM Act. However, these messages prominently promoted Soloway/NIM's broadcast email services and directed interested parties to his web site. Further, the majority of these messages hid the non-commercial claims in small print (a true and correct copy of a representative example is attached as Exhibit "C") or after approximately 24 blank lines so they would typically not show up in the recipient's email program unless the reader knew to scroll down (a true and correct copy of a representative example is attached as Exhibit "D").
18. I have visited Soloway/NIM's web sites as advertised in his emails on a number of occasions over the relevant time period, and have never seen any mention whatsoever of free services available to charities or non-profit organizations. True and correct printouts of the Soloway/NIM web site that I personally made on April 14 and again on June 20, 2005 are attached as Exhibit "E." While I did not make copies of the Soloway/NIM sites in 2003 or 2004, I did personally visit his sites from time to time during this period and can state from my own personal knowledge that they have not substantively changed during the relevant time period. I confirmed my personal recollection of the site being substantially the same by utilizing The Internet Archive's "Wayback Machine" service to review dated, archived copies of the sites as contemporaneously advertised in the Soloway/NIM spams. True and correct copies of these Soloway/NIM sites from December 7, 2003, April 26, June 26, and September 19, 2004 are attached as Exhibit "F."
19. I have not identified a single spam attributable to Soloway/NIM that is non-commercial or promoting any other organization that purports to be non-profit or charitable.
20. None of the spam emails from Soloway/NIM include the required conspicuous notice that the message is a commercial advertisement. Because this language is not included, it is more difficult for my filtering mechanisms to properly categorize these messages as spam.
21. My clients and I continue to receive fraudulent Soloway/NIM spams on an ongoing basis.

Subscribed and sworn to before me on this 12th day of September, 2005.
